
TSTA Student Program Awards

Revised October 2009

Deadline for Submission:

March 5, 2010

The TSTA Student Program Foundations – Teacher Quality, Community Outreach, Cultural Competency, and Political Action – are the underlying areas of focus that direct Student Program activities. It is in these areas that our members and affiliates sponsor programs, educate on issues, and affect change.

Teacher Quality encompasses pre-professional development and job preparation. At local meetings and workshops, state conferences, and national symposiums, our members encounter professional development opportunities: guest speakers on classroom management, experts on testing and practitioners sharing tips on smoothly running science labs. Job preparation comes in the form of resume workshops, portfolio tutorials, mock interviews and new teacher panels. Student Program publications and websites share teacher quality information relevant to our members, including certification requirements and resources for working with special needs children. Student members and chapters partner with Local Associations to enhance in-the-classroom opportunities and secure “real world” insights into the education profession. Students shape their college curriculum by serving as change-agents on boards and committees. Our members’ involvement in the TSTA Student Program increases their ability to become quality teachers.

Community Outreach describes how TSTA Student Program members engage the people and environment around them; we impact our communities – locally and globally – and value the meaningfulness of such involvement. Our members learn about communicating with parents, experience partnering with local businesses, and find grant support through Chamber of Commerce consortiums. Through the NEA-SP family, we design and implement projects as diverse as after-school tutoring programs, Harry Potter learning carnivals, and Senior Citizen dances. New teachers who are TSTA Student Program Alumni are more successful in helping their students achieve because they know how reaching out to the community provides them access to material and human resources.

Cultural Competency reflects the capacity of teachers to value and teach students with backgrounds different from their own. It also incorporates issues of and around social justice. SP members enhance their understanding of these issues through education on issues such as the achievement gaps, effectively working with school and parent groups to address bullying and other forms of harassment in the school setting, and strategies for working with English Language Learners. The impact of social justice is all-encompassing.

Political Action includes both the realization that political and legislative issues impact the education world and the initiative to get involved. We celebrate issue awareness around vouchers, IDEA funding, and state-mandated new teacher rights. We share information with peers, family and community. We sponsor voter registrations, get-out-the-vote activities, contact elected officials, help elect pro-public education officials, and lobby our local, state and national legislators. By educating each other, organizing activities and publicizing our involvement, we are making an impact.

The TSTA Student Program encourages its members to apply and/or nominate those individuals and/or affiliates that have excelled during the current academic year.

- Distribution of the awards packet is done through the TSTA-SP Program Coordinator. Applications can be accessed directly via the TSTA-SP Student Program website at <http://www.tsta.org/inside/student/SPawards.pdf> beginning January 25, 2010.
- All nominations and supporting documents must be postmarked or received in the TSTA Student Coordinator's office on or before March 5th, 2010. Information may be sent electronically; however, each application must be complete and include all supporting documentation (such as letters of recommendation).
- All nominees will be listed in the TSTA Student Program Conference program.
- Winning entries will be announced at the TSTA Student Program Awards Dinner, held in March at the site of the TSTA Student Leadership Conference in Austin, Texas.

Outstanding Local Scrapbook² Award

The TSTA Student Program recognizes and commends historical products of the local chapters. If multiple nominations are submitted, awards will be divided between local chapters based on the following sizes:

- Locals with 25 or fewer members
- Locals with 26 - 50 members
- Locals with 51 - 100 members
- Locals with more than 100 members

Criteria used in the judging process include scrapbook substance (particularly the extent to which the publication reflects the four TSTA-SP core values (Teacher Quality, Community Outreach, Cultural Competency, and Political Action) as well as the degree of creativity and the overall appearance of the scrapbook. Scrapbook content will account for 60% of the total score and overall appearance will account for 40%. The awards will be based on the effective and creative expression of the spirit of the local and its reflection of the TSTA-SP theme "I Teach! What's Your Super Power?"

Examples of content include representation of membership, activities, public relations, human relations, involvement in campus activities, monthly coverage, and pictorial coverage. Examples of appearance are general appearance (cover), color, creativity, balance, eye-appeal, and neatness. The judging will be focused on the content of the presentation.
